Alberta Acreage Increase This
Year Estimated at 447,365 Acres

While Total is Larger Than Last Year, Land Under Wheat is Considerably Less—Backward Spring and Unfavorable Weather is Given as Reason for the Decrease.

An increase of nearly half a million acres in crop acreage this year over that of last year is shown in the preliminary estimated report just issued by the provincial department of agriculture. It would seem, however, that the acreage in wheat is somewhat diminished. This is accounted for by the backward spring and unfavorable weather for seeding which caused farmers to seed more oats and green feed.

On the whole, however, it is a very good share for the number of farms under cultivation and latest reports respecting crop conditions are very optimistic. In the beginning of the season farmers were somewhat pessimistic as to the outlook, but now there is every prospect of a bumper harvest for the current year.

NARROW ESCAPE FOR FIVE WHEN
HOUSE BURNEDWoman and Her Son Jump From Second Storey Window—
Are in Hospital

Five persons narrowly escaped death Saturday morning when the home of Edward Reed, near the corner of 81st street and 44th avenue in the southeast end of the city was burned down. Mrs. Reed and her son, a four-year-old boy, are in the General Hospital in a serious condition. Mrs. Little and her daughter, and the ten-year-old daughter of Mrs. Reed were also injured and are staying with neighbors.

Shortly after three o'clock in the morning the occupants of the house were awakened by a fire which had made its escape from the second storey window. Within a short time the house and furniture was totally destroyed. The house was situated, a few feet from the south side fire station and by the time the apparatus arrived the house was in ruins.

The more severely burned patients were taken to the home of Rice Shepard from where he rushed them to the General Hospital. While at his home they received medical treatment.

Edward Reed, the father, is employed on the night shift by the Big Transfer Co., and was not at home at the time of the fire. The estimated damages are given as $1,000.

The condition of Mrs. Edward Reed, who with her five-year-old son, was badly burned Saturday, when their home was burned to the ground, was reported last night as favorable. The boy, by far the more seriously injured, was in a dangerous condition, but will recover. Both are in the General Hospital.

The family has been very hard hit by the fire. Edward Reed, the father, who was not at home at the time, admitted today that he lost pretty nearly everything he owned in the world. He told some friends he had only seventy-five cents left, just the cash he happened to have at the time in his pocket. All the furniture, bedding and clothes—and some money in the house—were lost.

Mrs. Reed, who was able to see friends on Sunday, told them that her son would have been burned to death had he not fallen to the ground from the second storey of the house. His clothes were in flames, but the fall extinguished them. His face and hands were mutilated and other parts of his body scorched.

On the same charge Roscoe Chopek, of 19313 McDougall avenue, was taken into custody. A quantity of liquor was made, according to the police.

ALTA. COLLEGEIncrease In Attendance At Various Departments Has Averaged 65 Per Cent.

With the closing of the term on Saturday at Alberta College North the most successful year in the history of the college was terminated. The total registration for the past year was 1113, which is an increase of 442 over the previous year. Increases were shown in all departments. In the academic department the increase was 35 per cent. in the commercial department 15 per cent. and the music and expression department, 89 per cent. which makes a total average increase of 65 per cent. The closing exercises were held in McDougall Methodist church on Friday night.

The work of the college among the non-English speaking people of Alberta has been large. During the past year over one hundred and fifty students of foreign birth attended the college. In other years these students as a rule took the elementary classes in English. This year a number of them took the higher grades of academic work. A large number of Russian women attended the college for the first time.

Another feature of the year's work was the gathering together of a dozen newboys and giving them two hours tuition in the morning and an hour and a half in the afternoon.

Through the commercial department two hundred and fifty students have obtained good positions. From the telegraphy department a large number of students secured employment in the government commercial and railway offices in the west.

The registration for the evening classes where shorthand, bookkeeping, telegraphy and academic subjects are taught was 212.

From the music department over one hundred students are taking examinations at the Toronto Conservatory of Music, the Royal Academy of Music and the Royal College of Music, London, England; and the University of Toronto. Among the pupils in the department of expression a dramatic society has been organized and a number of plays have been given with success.

DOMINION DAY
IS OBSERVED
BY CHURCHESAppropriate Services And Sermons
Mark The Jubilee Of Confederation.

In most of the Edmonton churches yesterday the sesquicentennial of Confederation was made the theme of special services and addresses and good congregations attended. The pastors reviewed the events of the past years in Canada and drew a picture of the larger future that was in store for the Dominion in the half century to come. A number of them took occasion to refer to the part the country was playing in the war and to utter a warning against absorption in mere material prosperity and forgetfulness of the great duty that still lies before us.

At Christ church, Anglican, there were commemorative services for the jubilee of confederation combined with a memorial for the loss of the parish who had fallen in the great war. Rev. C. W. McKim, M.A., officiated.

At All Saints Pro-Cathedral, Archdeacon Webb, in the morning reviewed the growth of the Anglican church in Canada during the past 50 years and in the evening touched upon the development of the country at large, the dangers confronting it and the lessons to be learned.

At the First Baptist church Rev. O. C. Horsman preached a timely sermon on "The triumphs of the trivial or the triumphs of the great." At All Saints Pro-Cathedral church services were conducted by A. L. Marks, whose subject was "Patriotism and Consecration."

The Presbyterians

The various Presbyterian churches also observed the day. At Robertson, Rev. R. G. Stewart preached on "The Individual's Gift to the Nation, or Practical Patriotism."

At the South side, at Knox church, Rev. E. McGowan, pastor, Capt. Duncan Cameron, a returned chaplain from France spoke both morning and evening.

Dominion day was suitably celebrated with a patriotic service at Beverly Presbyterian church at 11 a.m. Grier, son, at 3 p.m. and McQueen, Presbyterian, North Edmonton, at 7:30 p.m. Principal Keith, of the Ladies' College, conducted the services.

At Westminster church, Rev. H. J. Keble preached in the morning on the subject, "Fifty Years in His Dominion."

Rev. C. H. McClellan preached on the subject, "His Dominion," at the principal service in the First Presbyterian church. Patriotic addresses were given both morning and evening at Dundonald Presbyterian church, where the pastor, Rev. J. H. Long, teacher of history in Victoria high school, summarized the events leading up to the passing of the British North America Act.

The story was very impressively presented by the members of the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning. The feature of the service was a pageant illustrating the story of Confederation. Mr. I. L. Long, teacher of history in Victoria high school, summarized the events leading up to the passing of the British North America Act.

Miss Lucille Taylor as Quebec, Miss Katie MacCrimmon as Ontario, Miss McLeod as Nova Scotia, Miss Maud Riley as New Brunswick, Miss Helen MacLeod as Prince Edward Island, Miss Margaret MacMillan as British Columbia, Miss Marion Fife as Manitoba, Miss Ethel MacKenzie as Saskatchewan and Miss Helen Montgomery as Alberta represented their parts in a most creditable manner.

Miss C. Dyde, very ably representing Britannia, was welcomed by Canada and the Mother Country might greetings from the Mother Country and the other overseas Dominions.

Dr. McQueen closed the service with a very fitting address on National Ideals.

At the Methodist

At McDougall Methodist the pastor, Rev. A. S. Tuttle, M.A., gave a fine address on "The Canadian Resources and Ideals, Past, Present and Future."

At Wesley Methodist church the evening service was patriotic in its nature. "Fifty Years of the Canadian Life" was the subject of Rev. J. H. Johnston's sermon.

Rev. E. Val Tilton, at Metropolitan church, in the morning, gave a patriotic address on "The Canadian Life" and in the evening "Canada's call for leadership." The preaching points of the day were of a strengthening and purifying and Christianizing of the political, business and social life of Canada, and that to the church and both the church and the coming half century.

"The Jubilee of Confederation" was the theme of Rev. F. W. Locke at the evening service at Norwood Methodist church and both services were of a patriotic character.

servance Of Jubilee Of Confederation.

The Jubilee of Confederation celebration in the Horse Show building, commencing at three o'clock, will be the chief attraction in the city on Monday. It is free to all—young and old. Unfavorable weather conditions will not interfere with the carrying out of the program, to which much effort has been given by the Canadian club and others, to make the celebration a success. Special arrangements have been made with the automobile owners to convey convalescent soldiers for whom special accommodation has been reserved. Returned soldiers, wives and children are specially invited.

Monday is Red Cross day and the Red Cross society has prepared to provide tea, cream, soft drinks and other refreshments. The street railway has arranged to run a special service of cars to the Alberta avenue entrance of the fair grounds, giving convenient access to the Horse Show building.

Alberta Heroes in Casualties

Mrs. Weir hopes to hear shortly of his recovery from his injuries.

Pte. G. E. Watts

Arrears.

Edmonton's financial situation is relieved, the Utilities Commission have given consent to the city borrowing the sum of $1,200,000 on the area of 685 plots, and formal intimation of this was forwarded to the city authorities on Saturday.

This action of the Commission is going to assist the city's most pressing needs, although it now remains to be seen if the debenture issue will be successful. The city's financial position will be on the same lines as the previous debenture issues on tax arrears, that is, for two years with interest at 5 per cent. The point to be decided now is whether the bond market is at the most favorable stage for the sale of this class of securities.

So far as the financing of the present year is concerned a sum of something over two million is likely to be raised by the city. The loan has been granted it is anticipated that the remainder required can be raised from other sources. General revenue should bring in some $200,000 and another $250,000 is set down to the interest account. The largest item of anticipated revenue, apart from the loan, is a sum of $661,191 from the sale of local improvement debentures.

The decision of the Utilities Commission comes only in the nick of time, as the city has a large obligation to the bank which falls due on July 1st. As a matter of fact all payments which were not made last year were due to be made by the city and all work which has been previously sanctioned, has been countermanded and will not be gone on with until a further order is given.

Rice trade market continues to do a good trade every Saturday and this week was no exception. Generally speaking there was not much change in prices. The tendency of butter and eggs is little cheaper. Sellers of potatoes continued to ask from $1.15 to $1.20 per bushel and others $1.25 per sack. Tomato and cabbage plants were still offered by the gardeners and greenhouse men. Spinach and some of this year's crop of turnips were offered for the first time this week.

HOLD TRAIN TILL TUESDAY.

For the accommodation of campers and pleasure-seekers desiring to have the full benefit of the week-end and the holiday at Lake Wabamun, the G.P. Monday morning special will act on Tuesday morning instead. However, those desiring to return on Monday can come to Edmonton Monday night with the return train of the Union Methodist Sunday schools that night.

A great deal of curiosity is being aroused over the expected appearance of Miss Billie Burke in Edmonton at the near future.

Pte. Charles Gauld

Private Charles Gauld, who was reported wounded a few days ago, was a member of the Edmonton fire brigade before enlisting. He joined the brigade on May 2nd, 1914, and was promoted to the rank of No. 4 hall and then to No. 1 hall. He enlisted in an Edmonton battalion under Lieut. Col. G. B. McLeod, on July 6th, 1915. His home is in Island and he has no relatives in this city.

Pte. P. B. Hughes

Pte. Percy Barney Hughes, killed at Vimy Ridge, April 9th, was another of the many North Alberta lads who gave up their lives for their country's sake in the historic battle. He was 27 years old and a son of Wm. Barney Hughes, J.P. of 26, Stewart street, this city. He enlisted in the original 61st battalion and left for overseas April 14th, 1916. His brother, Maxwell Barney Hughes, was killed in action at Ypres, June 10th, 1916. His sister Mrs. Soper, was drowned at Lac La Piche in August, 1916. Another brother, Lieut. Wm. Hughes, of the Leicester regiment in the Imperial army, has seen two years' service in France. He has been home on leave since April 14th, 1916, but has been invalided home to England.

Pte. Percy Hughes had a homestead in the Fort McMurray district which he left in order to join the colors. Before going to Fort McMurray he was engaged in survey work for the C.N.R. He came to this country 10 years ago from Tunbridge Wells, England.

Sgt. Stan. Batters

Sergeant Stan. Batters, whose name appeared in the casualty list recently as being killed in action, was for four years enlisted with the survey branch of the public works department of the Provincial Government. He was in the employ of the Government to enlist. E. S. Stewart, an uncle, living at Lacombe, is the only relative he had in the West. His other relatives included his mother and father, who reside in Galt, Ont. Stan was very well known in Edmonton, where he had many friends who have learned with deep regret of his death.

Friday's train north over the E.D. & B.C. was crowded with nearly two hundred persons en route to Peace River. They included a number going north to visit friends and on business. He says there are some fifty good trade and road at Fort Vermilion over which he will be able to run a car.

Inspector Richard Field of the N.W. M.P. and Mrs. Field were on their way home from a tour of inspection. The inspector has been putting in a three months training course in the officers' training school.

The party consisting of Justice Morrison and the district court were on board en route to as far north as Fort Chipewyan. Several going for the steamer D. A. Thomas completed the passenger list.

MODERN WAR AND ANCIENT IN THE FILMS

While the warriors of ancient Babylon had not the means of wholesale slaughter in vogue today, their warfare could hardly be considered as child's play, as is plainly evidenced in D. W. Griffith's masterpiece "Intolerance," which is coming to the Empire theatre next week.

In this gigantic spectacle Mr. Griffith has brought faithfully and authentically the battles waged by Cyrus and his Persian hordes on Belshazzar of Babylon.

Each and every detail in connection with the life and customs of the people of Babylon, to the minutest detail, up to the time that the victorious Cyrus took the ancient city, is reproduced by Mr. Griffith according to the most authentic records.

In one scene, where the Babylonians high upon the walls of their besieged city, buri

Belshazzar and the Princess Beautiful in "Intolerance," which comes to the Empire Theatre next week.

On the horde of Cyrus, a signal was used to permit the Persians to have sufficient time to seek a place of safety. However, one overly enthusiastic Babylonian neglected to give the signal. After releasing the rock he gave vent to an extremely modern "Look out below." The words were barely out of his mouth when the projectile alighted on the helmet of Cyrus the Great himself. Cyrus was incapacitated for several hours as a result, and the siege of Babylon was halted until the leader of the Persians had recovered sufficiently to resume the onslaught.

These battle scenes are considered by students of ancient history and archaeology to be some of the really big moments of "Intolerance."

MONDAY, JULY 2, 1917.

Is the campaign to excuse Quebec from an invitation to do its part in the defence of the country financed from the Conservative campaign fund, as it was in 1911?

The Journal insists that it stands squarely by the principle that men should be conscripted in Alberta in order to excuse some of the Eastern provinces from being called upon to provide their quotas.

The Government proposes to exempt slacker provinces by act of a self-elected Parliament. The Laurier amendment proposes that this be done only if the people are willing that it be done.

From the tone of a section of Canadian press it is something verging upon treason to suggest that the public have a right to say what they think about the proposal to conscript men in one Province in order to exempt men in another Province.

Will Sir Robert Borden give an undertaking that conscription will not be applied to those parts of Canada which have provided their quotas of the half million men required until a resolute attempt has been made to get the slacker sections to make up their shortage?

Curious, is it not, that papers which rightly declare that we are fighting, and ought to fight, to overthrow autocracy in Germany also demand that a moribund Parliament enact conscription in Canada by autocratic authority? Is Prussianism a menace in Germany but a bulwark of liberty in Canada?

Selective conscription is the only fair way of raising an army. But when the army has been partially raised by voluntary enlistment, to then apply conscription to the whole country to raise the remainder is to demand double sacrifice from the people of one section in order to excuse the people of another section. That is neither fair, nor patriotic, nor "good business."

A large section of the Conservative press of Canada, it seems, has lost the faculty to discuss a public measure from any other stand-point than its probable effect upon the party line-up at Ottawa. That the public have any rights or interests in the question of conscription, aside from the way the members of a moribund Parliament will vote on the question, does not appear to occur to these papers.

The Laurier amendment proposes that the public be given a chance to demand that the slacker provinces shall do their duty. The conscription bill as it stands proposes that a Parliament elected by itself shall excuse the slacker provinces and conscript men elsewhere to make up their quotas. That is neither fair, nor in keeping with the democratic ideals for which the people of this country are giving their lives and their substance.

Sir Robert Borden says he is not in such a hurry to recruit that he would not agree to a general election—provided conscription could not carry without carrying him into power for another five years. A referendum would take less time than a general election, and would separate the question of military effort from the question of party politics. On both grounds it is preferable.

The conscription bill as it stands proposes to conscript men in provinces where voluntary enlistment has been active in order to make up part of the quotas which should be supplied by provinces where voluntary enlistment has been inactive. And it also proposes to establish local exempting tribunals with power to say that the slacker provinces shall supply no men at all, and that the other provinces must make up their whole deficiency if it is to be made up. As the members of these local tribunals would be naturally under the influence of local sentiment it can only be supposed that they would exercise the power given them in accord with that sentiment. In the Nationalist centres of Quebec, for example, how many men is it to be supposed the local tribunals would send to the trenches?

It is proposed to conscript men from other provinces in order that Quebec may not have to provide its full quota of men to the half million required. The most prominent member of the Government from the province of Quebec declares that there would be no shortage of men from Quebec if the Government employed right recruiting methods in an energetic attempt to raise the quota asked from that province. On the strength of his testimony the proposal is that men be conscripted from other provinces in order to save the Government from the necessity of antagonizing its Nationalist allies by putting on a real recruiting campaign in the province of Quebec.

Hon. Mr. Blondin declares frankly that there would be no shortage of men from Quebec if recruiting were carried on in that province as it should have been. If there are other provinces in default it is to be supposed the cause there is the same. Then why not apply sane recruiting methods to the provinces which are in default until their quotas have been made up? Should the people in the provinces which have done their duty be penalized for the Government's unwillingness to undertake an energetic recruiting propaganda in provinces which have failed?

Quebec has failed by eighty thousand men to supply the number apportioned to it. Hon. Mr. Severyn says the conscription bill as it stands could not take more than twenty-five thousand men from Quebec. Fifty-five thousand of the men Quebec should supply are therefore to be taken from the other provinces. And the exempting tribunals would have power to excuse Quebec from supplying even the twenty-five thousand men—and would be under the pull of local influence, and the threats of the Nationalist faction, to exercise their power in precisely that way. The conscription bill as it stands, is a Nationalist exemption bill. It should specify the number of men required from each military district.

How much of the noise in the Nationalist centres is the expression of a resolution to resist compulsion, and how much of it is simply "sound and fury" designed to make the people of the other provinces "lie down" before the threat of rebellion in Quebec? If the Nationalist leaders have sense enough to understand that one and one make two they understand quite well that conscription applied to all Canada would excuse forty or fifty thousand slackers in Quebec and force men from the other provinces to take their places in the ranks. And the Nationalist leaders are not stupid. They understand the incidence of the conscription measure thoroughly. The chances are that, aside from a number of sincere lunatics, they are putting up a bluff in hope of terrorizing the people of the other provinces with the menace of trouble in Quebec. In hope, first, of preventing conscription altogether if that can be done; and, failing that, of making the people of the other provinces consent to the conscription of their own sons in order that a proportionate number of the noise-makers may be exempt.

Wheat Two Feet High On Moosomin Farm

Moosomin, Sask., June 30—A bunch of the finest wheat in the province was seen yesterday. The wheat is a product of the 300-acre field of F. Dean and Sons, Poplar Grove district and measures 25 inches long. It is in the shot blade, looks healthy and is well stored. The wheat was pulled on June 27 and is a fair sample of the crop of the entire 300-acre field from which it was taken.

Sir Robert Borden says he is not in such a hurry to recruit that he would not agree to a general election—provided conscription could not carry without carrying him into power for another five years. A referendum would take less time than a general election, and would separate the question

Wrong Has Its Reckoning Day

From the Boston Transcript:

Moreover, what sort of a "good result" will be the determination which these raids on London will strengthen in the minds of all the Allies to make the German Empire pay for these outrages upon humanity? Is it to be supposed that America, as a sharer now of the responsibilities of the civilized world, will ever consent to a peace which does not take into consideration the debt of reparation owed by the German Empire for a campaign of wanton destruction of this kind? By such means as this air raid and other similar attacks upon helpless non-combatants, Germany is running up a bill which she will have to pay sometime. Wrong has its reckoning day.

Darkness is strong and so is sin. But surely God endures forever!

A Reason For Failure

From the Toronto Telegram:

Least, however, some future historian delving for material should not come across the major-general's latest "apologia pro vita sua" as delivered to the House of Commons. It may be well to point out that whilst enumerating various episodes detrimental to the recruiting, the gallant knight suffered from a slight touch of amnesia. He forgot about a certain ten-word statement which was damned by every recruiting agent and acclaimed by every elucant spirit, which cost Toronto battalions alone scores of men and hundreds of dollars, which, indeed, almost closed the doors of the recruiting depot before it was eclipsed by some other "reason" which most disastrous single impediment to voluntarism was in this never-retracted pronouncement. "We are getting two recruits for every one we need." The gentleman who uttered it, though this statement was not in the Hansard of Sir Sam Hughes' speech—was none other than the former Minister of Militia himself.

Severe Treatment.

"Here's something queer," said the dentist: "You say this tooth has never been worked on before, but I find small stakes of gold on my instrument."

"I think you have struck my back collar button," replied the victim.

Mistaken.

It wasn't often that the local lawyer went to church, but on one occasion he was dragged there by the porch by a friend and he entered first.

She arrived just as the curate was reading the opening prayer about the wicked man.

Hurriedly she caught up her prayer book.

"Where are they?" she asked her spouse.

"Er—I don't quite know," he answered, fumbling with the unfamiliar book; "but I don't think they've opened the case for the defense yet!"

The Matron's Kiss.

A story that is going around the French papers is rather pleasant. A pretty, young actress is attached to one of the Paris hospitals, and the other day, in order to make recalcitrant patients take their medicine, she promised each obedient one a kiss. All the patients were lamblike.

The elderly matron was a witness to the scene. Next day she said to the men: "If you take your medicine I will allow you to kiss me!"

The men all made gestures of discouragement.

Luckily the lady had a sense of humor. She laughed and said: "Take your medicine or I'll order you to kiss me!"—Aberdeen Free Press.

RAIL STOCKS SAG BECAUSE INCREASE HAS BEEN OPPOSED

New York Stocks Affected By Ruling of Commerce Commission

New York, June 30.—Railroad stocks were depressed today in consequence of the denial by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the fifteen per cent. rate increase.

Reading losing almost three points, Erie 2, B. & O. 1 3/4, and Chesapeake & Ohio 1. Pacific, some of the grangers, Delaware & Hudson and New York Central fell from one to two and a half points. Equipment and industrial stocks were mostly depressed upon railway conditions were heavy.

American Car, Bethlehem Steel and United States Steel broke 1 to 3/4 points. The market displayed unusual volatility however, industrial stocks soon recovering their losses and more, which rallied from large fractions to a point.

His Prayer

He prayed, There where he lay, Blood-sodden and unkempt, As never in his young carelessness he'd dreamt That he could pray.

He prayed: Not that the pain should cease, Nor yet for water in the parching heat, Nor for death's quick release, Nor even for the tardy feet Of stretcher-bearers bringing aid.

He prayed: Cast helpless on the bloody sod: "Don't trouble now, O God, for me, But keep the boys, O God, forward with them, God!"

O speed the Camerons to victory! The kilts flashed on "Well played," he sighed, "Well played,"

Just so he prayed.

FIRST ARRIVALS OF SPRING WHEAT

CAUSES A DROP

Prices Sag at Chicago—Business Generally Dull With Slight Rallies

Chicago, June 30.—Announcement of first arrivals of new wheat this season at the Atlantic seaboard ready for shipment to Europe tended today to ease prices here. Business, however, amounted to scarcely enough to establish quotations. The opening, which ranged from 1 to 1/2c lower, with July at $2.00 and September at $1.80, was followed by slight rallies.

Favorable weather and a prospect of the continuance led to downturns in the value of new crop deliveries of corn. The July option, though, as a result of scarcity of old corn, proved firm. After opening one cent off to quarter cent up the market weakened a little further for September and December, but hardened for July.

Reports that new oats were freely offered from first hands eased the oats market perceptibly. It was said crop conditions could not be improved.

Provisions headed down-grade, influenced by lower quotations on hogs.

Some evening up of trades later caused more than a full recovery. The close was firm, 1/4 to 1/2c higher at $2.02 for July and $1.82 for September.

Later the strength of July brought about a covering on the part of the shorts in other months. The result was a decided advance all around. Prices closed unsettled at gains of 1/4 to 1/2c net.
